Race for Results: Building a Path to Opportunity for All Children

It is a fundamental American belief that everyone deserves a chance to succeed regardless of where they live or what racial or ethnic group they belong to. A new report from the Annie E. Casey Foundation brings a new perspective, data analysis and recommendations on how to make sure all our kids realize their potential.

In Idaho, nearly a quarter of our kids are now people of color. According to this report, Idaho's children of almost every ethnic and racial group are performing below the national average, with some groups facing more challenges than others.

A Public News Service article about the report can be found here.
