PARENT NIGHT

Join us to learn and discuss rights for you and your child when it comes to education and advocating for their needs!

Courtney is an experienced mediator serving clients throughout the Mountain West. In California, she was a trial attorney in the public sector, serving as a Deputy County Counsel in Orange County. Most days were spent in a courtroom.

She has handled jury trials, court trials, and countless hearings on high-stakes, emotionally charged matters ranging from elder abuse, conservatorship, and civil commitment to child abuse and parental rights. Working in the high-stress setting on cases addressing liberty, life, and family required not only poise in the courtroom, but compelled the development of keen negotiation skills which led her to expand beyond the traditional legal practice into the world of mediation services.

The scope of her work in education law encompasses special education under the IDEA, 504 disputes, ADA and 1983 matters in the public school. In addition, she has overseen multiple special education administrative due process hearings in the Mountain West.
